

OUR OPINIONS

Franklin, N. C. 28734 Thursday, March 12, 1970

Reby Sloan Tessier

Some people never really learn what living is all about. Mrs. Reby Sloan Tessier was just the opposite; she really lived every day of her life and enjoyed every minute of it.

Faith and optimism. She personified both to the fullest.

Fate decreed that she experience a life filled with adversity. The stumbling blocks placed in her pathway would have destroyed many persons.

"Mrs. Reby" never saw them as obstacles as she accomplished the task of rearing seven fine children, lent a helping hand to hundreds of persons either spiritually or materially as she followed the path of the "Good Samaritan".

One of God's "Little People", she cut a wide path of cheerfulness and sunlight for many people of the world of gloom and despair.

She was, we think, a modern day saint.